Reading Guide

Hello, Welcome to my Reading Guide

So for our project we didn't follow a specific method, we just tried to make it into iterations.

In our first iteration we created the personas, survey and sketches. After that we updated the personas and created the paper prototype.

We tried testing on it, but it was hard as it was just a piece of paper, so we decided to create a Low Fidelity prototype.

With the feedback we got from the teachers we tried to further our understanding in Design Thinking, but I guess we still don't know the hang of it. We focused our time on research and design, but that was a mistake, as in the last week we started creating the app, which didn't go very well.

So in the end we weren't able to finish the app as promised.
